

EISENHOWER FLIES TO SUNNY KEY WEST

About Town And Country

Good Deed Made Lasting Impression On Dr. Archie Brown

EACH WEEK Dr. Archie E. Brown, former local resident who is pastor of the First Baptist church at Vandalia, writes an article for a Vandalia newspaper under the heading, "Here's What I Thought." One of his latest contributions concerns Harrisburg. It is fitting to run it. Here is the article in its entirety:

"Here's What I Thought" By Dr. Archie E. Brown

He was only eleven years of age, but he was just about as mischievous as any boy of eleven could be. In fact, his sixth grade teacher was having quite a disciplinary problem with him. Spanking him two or three times a week did not seem to get the job done. However, she did notice that he responded quite well to love and special attention. The teacher's problem was that she could not find enough time for all the love and attention he needed. After all she had many other pupils.

His nickname was "chicken." He acquired this name because of his love for that particular fowl. His neighbors kept their chicken yards well populated with all kinds of chickens, and he loved to watch them and to feed them. His delight was to gather the eggs morning and evening.

"Chick," as he was often called, had for his neighbors one family of whom he was especially fond. They were Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Smith and son, Lawrence. It was Lawrence who gave him the nickname, "chicken," or "chick."

Mrs. Smith seemed to be attracted to this eleven year old boy. She had seen him grow from infancy. She had been present when "Chick's" little brother died from ptomaine poison. She and her husband, Adolph, proved to be of real comfort to "Chick's" mother and dad in that hour of sorrow.

Then real tragedy struck at "Chick's" home. His dad was fatally injured when coal fell on him in the coal mine, where he worked. At the age of ten "Chick" was left fatherless.

When he was three, "Chick" had a severe case of whooping cough. He strained so much with the spasms of coughing that one of his eyes was crossed. Since the first grade in school he has had to wear glasses.

Perhaps the crossed eye, the loss of his father and the second-hand patched clothing he wore, had something to do with his inferiority complex. The inferiority complex certainly made him the mischievous boy that he was.

One day "Chick" heard that there was a way that he could have a brand new Ranger bicycle all his own. The St. Louis Post Dispatch would give any boy one of these new bicycles if he would obtain twenty subscriptions to their paper.

"Chick" went to the neighborhood drug store, asked for twenty subscription blanks and started to

Warns Against Shooting Air Rifles in City

Chief of Police Ross Lane today said he was getting calls which complained of air rifles being shot in the city and warned that children must not be out with them in the city limits, as a city ordinance forbids them.

He said that yesterday a window glass was shot out by an air rifle pellet in the 500 block of West Poplar street.

Girl, 16, Spends Holidays in Deserted Store; Fits Herself in Dream Wardrobe

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP)—A 16-year-old girl told today how she spent the Christmas holidays hiding herself out with a bobby soxer's dream wardrobe.

The girl, who didn't want to go home for Christmas, spent three nights and two days wandering through the deserted, seven-story M. L. Parker Department Store. She walked out of the store Tuesday loaded with fine luggage containing $600 worth of clothes, jewelry, and cosmetics. Her first act was to eat her first meal since she entered the store on Christmas Eve Saturday. After that, she didn't know where to go with her finery.

Juvenile Officer Larry Cuervorst said officers found the girl wandering through the hallways of a nearby office building.

Council Predicts 420 New Year Traffic Deaths

Stratton Considers Using National Guard for Patrols

CHICAGO (UP)—Safety experts feared today that the nation will follow its all-time "Black Christmas" holiday massacre with a New Year's record for deaths on the highways.

The National Safety Council said the "cold figures" forced it to predict 420 deaths in traffic crashes during the holiday period between 6 p. m. next Friday to midnight Monday.

A 420 death toll would be far below the record total of 621 persons who died in traffic during the three-day Christmas holiday last weekend. But it would set a new record for a New Year's holiday—making it the second shameful mark set in the nation within a period of one week.

Many state governors, shocked by the all-time, all-holiday Christmas toll, moved quickly to hold down the death count next weekend.

Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton considered calling out the National Guard to patrol the highways. Full-scale investigations of the Christmas slaughter were also ordered in Michigan and New York state.

The Safety Council, meanwhile, expressed hopes that "the terrible lesson of the Christmas holiday" will sober drivers into caution during the New Year's holiday.

But Council President Ned H. Dearborn warned "the cold figures force us to the conclusion that 420 will die."

The safety experts blamed "just too many cars on the road" for the Christmas tragedy and pointed out that many of those same cars will be jamming the highways next weekend.

May Use Guardsmen
In Illinois, where crashes killed 46 persons over Christmas, Gov. Stratton's secretary announced that the National Guard will be called out for New Year's "if it develops that we can't get the right number of police in the right place to stop careless drivers."

These guardsmen would patrol the roads in military vehicles and would have the power to arrest drivers.

The Chicago area counted 25 holiday traffic deaths—possibly the highest for any metropolitan area—and Mayor Richard J. Daley called an emergency meeting of city and county officials today to find out why.

One proposal backed by police was to set up roadblocks throughout the city to catch drunken drivers before they kill someone. Michigan had already tried the use of National Guardsmen over Christmas, but the state still counted 44 holiday fatalities. Gov. G. Mennen Williams declared himself "shocked" and ordered state police to search for the reason.

Bert Grace, 73, Former Resident, Dies at Marion

Bert Grace, 73, former resident of Harrisburg who resided at 416 North Market street in Marion, died this morning at 1:45 at the Marion Memorial hospital.

For several years in Harrisburg he was associated with his son-in-law, Tom Koone, in the restaurant business. His wife, Fannie, operated Grace's beauty shop on East Poplar.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Opal Koone, and one son, Clay Grace, all of Marion.

The body at 6 p. m. today will lie in state at the Mitchell's funeral home in Marion. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon and burial will be in Salem cemetery in Carrier Mills.

"She had found riches but now she was dumfounded and bewildered," Cuervorst said. "I asked her where she had planned to go with all those clothes and she said she didn't know."

The girl, whose name was not revealed, was wearing blue jeans and a sweater when she was shopping with $2 Christmas money Saturday, Cuervorst said. When she walked out Tuesday she was tricked out in a $25 cashmere sweater and fancy Bermuda shorts, despite the wintry weather.

In her luggage, Cuervorst said, police found 11 more $25 sweaters, a collection of dresses, six pairs of costume jewelry earrings, two strings of beads, three or four assorted bracelets, a half dozen blouses and skirts, a $10 hat, and a topper coat.

Despite her fine wardrobe, the girl had only 37 cents in her pocket. She wasn't frightened or lonely, Cuervorst said, and could have got out any time she wanted to. On several occasions, supervisory employees toured the building. The girl saw them but she made sure they didn't see her.

The juvenile officer said the girl was the victim of a broken home and had quarreled with one of her parents in the neighboring city of Moline, Ill., where she lived.

C. W. Bishop Denies He Will Run for Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—C. W. (Runt) Bishop has denied reports that he will try to regain the Illinois Congressional seat he lost in the 1954 elections.

Friends have been pressing him to run again on the GOP ticket, he said Tuesday, "but I never did have a mind to run."

Paul Dorris, an associate of Bishop, had announced in Carterville last week that Bishop would be a candidate for Congress next year.

Dorris, when told of Bishop's statement, said "some unforeseen developments, something better, a Presidential appointment," had made Bishop change his mind about running.

Bishop, now an assistant to the executive assistant postmaster general, said he had notified GOP Williamson County Chairman Ralph W. Harris that "I'm not running."

IEA President Hits Tax Setup To Aid Schools

CHICAGO (UP)—The president of the Illinois Education Assn. today attacked the "inadequacy and inequity" of the state's tax setup to meet the financial needs of schools.

IEA President William H. Carruthers of Murphysboro said the Illinois tax structure is "antiquated" and the situation now is "an area of major concern."

Carruthers said Illinois ranks 6th in per capita income, but 39th in taxes. The state contributes 20 per cent of the total cost of schools, compared with a national average of 38 per cent.

He said this places the financial burden on local districts, where taxes are levied only against real property and that at 50 per cent of its value.

"It is easily understood why Illinois has difficulty in supporting an adequate foundation program for the public common schools," Carruthers said.

Carruthers, in a speech prepared for delivery at the IEA's 102nd annual meeting, praised the increase in state school aid by the 1955 Legislature to more than 200 million dollars for 1955-57.

But he warned that to maintain this program, the cost will rise 30 million dollars more in 1957 and "this is just the beginning." By 1961, he said, the need "may well approach" 300 to 350 million.

Carruthers said "some external assistance" is needed to finance the "pressing" construction needs of schools, and maximum grants for pupil transportation need to be boosted.

He called for the creation of a state board of education to administer the public schools, which he termed a 380-million-dollar a year enterprise in Illinois.

Carruthers endorsed federal aid to schools, but said it must not "reduce local initiative" or "the long-established policy of local control."

Four Runs by Fire Department

The city fire department had a busy day yesterday, responding to four fire calls.

Three of the runs were to grass fires, the other to the home of Maude Hamilton, 214 West National street where wallpaper around a stovepipe caught fire. Damage was not extensive. Fire was made at 11:05 a. m.

The grass fires were at 1007 South Leford at 10:45 a. m., at 420 West South street at 12:35 p. m. and at 1136 South Main street at 1:40 p. m. The South Main street fire was out when the truck arrived.

Even after their divorce, the Culbertsons continued a business partnership grossing some $500,000 a year at one time.

Culbertson in 1947 met a 21-year-old Vassar College student, Dorothy Renata Baehne, who became his second wife.

A competing application of On The Air, Inc., operator of radio station WGBF, was denied.

The commission also announced it had denied a joint petition by Premier Television Inc. of Evansville, Ohio Valley Television Co. of Henderson, Ky., and Mid-America Broadcasting Corp. of Louisville to consolidate and stay action in the Channel 7 and Channel 9 (Hattfield) proceedings.

Awarding Channel 7 to Evansville Television could mean the new station will be on the air by mid-1956. However, the commission's action is subject to appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Jaycees Get Quit Claim Deed to Factory Building

First Break to Get Structure Free Of Entanglements

First break to get the unfinished factory building in Dorrisville unsharred from its legal entanglements came yesterday when Irving I. Hudes, who started the structure, gave a quit claim deed to the Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce.

It was the Jaycee group that paved the way for a deed factory, securing a sizeable piece of county-owned land across the road from the county farm from the Saline County Board of Supervisors. The Jaycees also pushed the laying of water and sewer mains and the stringing of power lines to the building.

Construction of the building came to a standstill and the Saline county circuit clerk's office became the place of filing thousands of dollars worth of claims against Hudes and his manufacturing concern, which he said would make cigarette lighters, fold-up camping stoves and novelty items.

Yesterday Hudes met with representatives of the Jaycees and attorneys and turned over the unfinished structure to the local organization.

Hudes and his family have left Harrisburg.

Ely Culbertson, National Bridge Expert, Dies

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. (AP)—Ely Culbertson, 64, who made a national industry out of bridge, died Tuesday night after a brief illness.

Dr. Robert T. Walker, who was called to Culbertson's home, said death was due to a lung congestion.

Culbertson found wealth and prestige after creating the system of bridge that bore his name. Much of his life was devoted to intellectual pursuits, including a world federation for peace plan evolved while a youthful revolutionist in Czarist Russia.

Culbertson's health began to fail a few months ago. He had been ill several times last summer.

Culbertson was born in Roumania of a Russian mother and American father. His father returned to the United States for a time and then went to Russia where he became rich developing oil fields.

Culbertson married a young widow, Josephine Murphy Dillon, in 1923, and they developed the Culbertson system, entering various tournaments. They defeated Lens and Jacoby in 1931 in a "battle of systems" that really started the Culbertson organization.

Even after their divorce, the Culbertsons continued a business partnership grossing some $500,000 a year at one time.

Culbertson in 1947 met a 21-year-old Vassar College student, Dorothy Renata Baehne, who became his second wife.

FCC Authorizes Channel 7 Station For Evansville

EVANSVILLE, Ind.—The Federal Communications commission at Washington, D. C., yesterday authorized Evansville Television Inc. to operate a Very High Frequency station in Evansville, telecasting on Channel 7. It issued a construction permit to the firm.

Authorization was granted in a four to two decision sustaining the recommendations of FCC Examiner Herbert Sharfman.

A competing application of On The Air, Inc., operator of radio station WGBF, was denied.

The commission also announced it had denied a joint petition by Premier Television Inc. of Evansville, Ohio Valley Television Co. of Henderson, Ky., and Mid-America Broadcasting Corp. of Louisville to consolidate and stay action in the Channel 7 and Channel 9 (Hattfield) proceedings.

Awarding Channel 7 to Evansville Television could mean the new station will be on the air by mid-1956. However, the commission's action is subject to appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

DIE IN CRASH Wayne Cantrell (left) and Garrett Rice, both of Harrisburg, were among the victims of Christmas holiday traffic accidents when they were fatally injured in an auto crash near Carmi early Saturday morning. They were returning to Harrisburg for the holidays from Hammond, Ind., where they were both employed.

Children of Auto Victim Receive Gifts in Kind Act

The four young children of Wayne Cantrell, killed Christmas Eve as he returned to Harrisburg from Hammond, Ind., for Christmas, got presents galore after a kind-hearted man read the sad story of the father's death.

Also killed in the crash was the uncle of the children, Garrett Rice. Reading the story was Davis Lambert of Mt. Carmel, who owns the Lambert-Hood oil well servicing company which is well-known in this area.

The article touched him deeply; so he got his niece, Darlene Crawford of this city, and they went on a shopping tour to get presents for Larry Wayne, 11, Judy, 9, Bonnie, 7, and Kenny, 6.

They loaded the rear seat of Lambert's auto with all kinds of gifts and with Chief of Police Ross Lane went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murrell Rice, grandparents, where the children were at the time.

The children were profuse in their thanks to Mr. Lambert for his kind deed.

Atty. Biggers Accepts Post with Insurance Firm

Atty. John W. Biggers today revealed that he is leaving Monday to accept a post with the All State Insurance Co.

Atty. Biggers will spend three weeks in training for the job at Kansas City, after which he will join the claims department of the St. Louis branch of All-State, a subsidiary of the Sears-Roebuck Co.

At St. Louis he will start as an adjuster, preparatory to joining the legal staff in one of the branch offices of the company.

Atty. Biggers, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Biggers of this city, entered the University of Illinois after graduating from Harrisburg Township high school and received his Law degree in 1954. He has practiced in Harrisburg since November of that year and was assistant state's attorney of Saline county from January to mid-August, this year.

He has been active in civic affairs and headed the county fund drive of the Salvation Army the past autumn.

Soviet Release of U. S. Airman Seen Rebuff to East Berlin Reds

BERLIN (UP)—Soviet release of an American airman arrested by the East German Communists makes it clear the Russians will respect four-power agreements on treatment of Western Allied nationals in the city, American officials said today.

Action of the Soviets in returning M. Sgt. Mike Kliman, 45, Brooklyn, N. Y., was seen as a rebuff to the East Zone Communists who labeled him a "drunken" driver and demanded his trial by a Communist court.

The Communist press and radio denounced the sergeant in a campaign as bitter as that directed against two other American soldiers arrested recently in East Berlin on charges of striking an East German actor.

The Americans were braced for a test case on four-power occupation rights when the Soviets released Kliman 23 hours after his arrest by East German police as a "drunken American occupier" after his car collided in East Berlin with a speeding taxi.

Kliman, nervous and apparently shaken by his experience, told a news conference he was treated "well" by the Communists but he would answer only "no comment" to most questions.

His damaged car still was in East Berlin today awaiting a tow car to take it to the West. Apparently worried about the car he answered "no comment" when asked if he had been drunk, if he had passed

Doerge Installed As New President Of Kiwanis Club

Ronnie Doerge was installed as new president of the Kiwanis club at the weekly meeting held last night at the Masonic temple.

New officers of the club were installed by Roy Harper of Metropolis, past governor of the Illinois Eastern Iowa district, who also outlined the duties of each of the officers and members of the board of directors.

Doerge replaces Dan Davis, who has served as president of the club for the past year.

Other officers installed were John Metten, vice president, Vernard Clayton, who was re-elected treasurer, and the following members of the board of directors: Ray Durham, Loy Barger, Arthur M. Delbes, Russell Bartness, Fred Wunderlich and John Schork. Eugene Morris, also a member of the board, was unable to be present at last night's meeting.

Ralph Woolard, who was re-elected secretary, and committee chairman will be installed next week by Loy Barger, past lieutenant governor of Division 16 of the III district.

President Doerge will name committee members at next week's meeting and will outline the club program for the coming year. A membership drive, with club members serving on teams, will be one of the major projects, he said.

He also stated the club would attempt a 100 per cent attendance at an inspirational division meeting to be held Thursday evening, Jan. 19, at Anna.

The club was urged to support the Harlem Globe Trotters basketball game Saturday night, Dec. 31, at Davenport gym. Proceeds will be used to help support the ball park being built for young players.

Guests at last night's meeting were Harold E. Smith, Mt. Carmel, a visiting Kiwanis, and his small son, Lowell, and Jim Ford, Detroit, brother-in-law of Fred Wunderlich.

Will Devote Time to Work, Rest, Sunshine

Mrs. Eisenhower Remains in Capital Near Daughter-in-Law

KEY WEST, Fla. (UP)—President Eisenhower flew today to Key West, the nation's southernmost city, for a two-week stretch of sunshine, rest and work.

The presidential plane Columbine II touched down at the airport at 11:49 a. m. CST after a 3-hour, 34 minute flight from the frosty winter temperatures of the nation's capital. The President landed in sunny 73-degree weather.

A cavalcade, with the President in the lead in a Cadillac, crossed newly named Eisenhower Drive at the junction of Truman Avenue and Roosevelt Boulevard.

Those with the President, among others, were his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, and his physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder. Mrs. Eisenhower was remaining in Washington to be near her daughter-in-law, Barbara, who gave birth to her fourth child last week.

The President's decision to make the trip to Key West came as a surprise and represented a change of mind on his part.

His doctors had been urging him to go south for some mild exercise in a warmer climate as part of his recuperation from his heart attack. But only last week Mr. Eisenhower indicated he intended to ignore their suggestion.

To Work on Message
At that time he informed the Key West Chamber of Commerce that he did not think he would be able to get away from Washington this winter and that if he did, he probably would go only as far south as Georgia.

What caused the President to change his mind was a mystery. It was possible that his doctors took the matter up with him again and put greater stress on the importance of his making the trip.

Mr. Eisenhower's trip means that he will not be in Washington when Congress reconvenes next Tuesday. But White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said that during his vacation the President will continue to work on his State of the Union message—which will be read to Congress in the President's absence Jan. 5—his budget estimates and other special messages to Congress.

Mr. Eisenhower confers with congressional leaders or administration officials on congressional matters within the next two weeks, those conferences apparently will have to take place in Florida. But the number of his callers undoubtedly will be held to a minimum.

New Type Parking Meters Installed at Post Office, Banks

The 12-minute half-type parking meters in front of the post office and the two banks have been replaced with new type meters, Chief of Police Ross Lane said today.

The three 12-minute meters in front of the post office and the two in front of each bank had not been satisfactory to motorists, Lane said, in explaining why they were taken out.

In their place were put a new type automatic meter which gives cumulative time. That is, if there is 20 minutes time showing on a meter when a person inserts a nickel, he'll have 80 minutes showing.

Most automatic meters do not give cumulative time. If there's 40 minutes on a meter and a person inserts a nickel, the indicator goes only to 60 minutes.

There are the new cumulative type meters on North Vine street alongside the Palace Clothing House and on East Locust across from the city building. Lane said the city is considering buying about 100 more of the new-type meters for replacements when present meters wear out.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Lone Lady Congressman
Braves African Elephants;
Mrs. Bolton Of Cleveland Pays
Her Own Way Through Africa.

WASHINGTON. — A lot of congressmen are now coming back from almost every part of the world, most of them traveling at the taxpayers' expense. But grandmotherly 70-year-old Congresswoman Frances Bolton of Cleveland has just finished a 20,000-mile trek through dark Africa at her own expense. Mrs. Bolton couldn't look less like an African explorer, but her trip had all the trappings of a Frank Buck expedition.

In the Belgian Congo, a charging, trumpeting bull elephant almost put an end to her trip. Her only injury, however, came not from wild animals but from an automobile — a broken finger, caught in a car door.

With her finger in splints, she traveled by plane, steamer, railway and caravan through 20 African countries, colonies, and protectorates, for the House Foreign Affairs committee.

As a Republican, Mrs. Bolton has had years of experience with GOP elephants. But she ran into the real animal on a dim jungle trail. A big enraged bull charged her party as if they were all Democrats. They were moving through the Belgian Congo by auto caravan when they found themselves hemmed in on three sides by elephants. Here is how Mrs. Bolton describes the incident:

"We stopped to watch a large herd of elephants where two bulls were fighting. Soon an electrical storm began to gather, and the elephants became noticeably agitated. Before we knew it, a second herd had lumbered in on our left and a third on our right."

"Mountains were around us — a huge grassy plain, two cars, elephants on three sides, nervously protecting their young, and restlessness because of the lightning," reported the Ohio grandmother. "The man at my side warned us to watch an immense bull elephant straight ahead. His ears were flapping, his trunk swinging, and he was shifting from side to side."

"Suddenly, with front feet together and a curious trumpeting, he charged us. The driver in the lead car had no time to turn. He slammed the car into reverse and came back at us at about 30 miles an hour. Our driver did not lose his head, but backed clear of the oncoming car, got us turned around, and got us out of there. It was a breathless few seconds."

THEY LIKED IKE

Before leaving the Belgian Congo, Mrs. Bolton met another woman politician—the queen mother of the Watutsi tribe.

"We spoke of the vastness of Africa and of the future which we, as women, have in common although we live across the world from each other," writes the lady legislator. "I offered her a very small present, an attractive printed cotton scarf. She took it with great dignity and with a smile that was mostly in her eyes."

In Nigeria, far removed from American politics, Mrs. Bolton discovered that the natives like Ike.

They see him in movies, shown by two mobile picture units that the American embassy sends into the heart of the country. The congresswoman found that "the most popular films are those that show President Eisenhower's press conferences. Each of the ten White House press conference films are in top demand. The people come from distant parts to see a film where they say:

"The king of the United States answers questions from anybody."

CHRISTMAS-GO-ROUND

Sprouts from the White House Christmas tree: President Eisenhower pressed the same silver button to light the tree (by remote control from Gettysburg) that Calvin Coolidge pressed to light the first outside White House tree in 1926. The Coolidge tree was a gift of Middlebury College in Vermont and, like this year's spruce from South Dakota, was displayed on the Ellipse instead of the White House lawn. Most trees since Coolidge's day have been "living trees," that is, planted in the ground on the White House lawn or in Lafayette Park so as not to disturb the roots, then replanted elsewhere after the Christmas season. This year's tree, though not planted, is said to be the most beautiful in the 20 years since Coolidge. The 1954 balsam, a gift of Michigan State University, was three feet taller, however. Franklin D. Roosevelt initiated the remote-control lighting (from Hyde Park) in 1944. Harry Truman followed suit from Independence, Mo., in 1951. Winston Churchill highlighted the most important ceremony when he made a speech at the 1941 lighting, following Pearl Harbor.

Sell Property

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hicks have moved to Indiana, and while here over the holidays sold their home at 115 Virginia street to Mr. and Mrs. L. McNichols who plan to occupy it as their home in the future. Sale of this property was made through Hauptmann Real Estate.

Illinois GOP Hopes For 4,000-5,000 Dinner Attendance

SPRINGFIELD — State Republican Chairman Morton H. Hollingsworth said today the state GOP hopes a crowd of 4,000 to 5,000 persons will attend the $100-a-plate dinner at the Chicago Amphitheatre Jan. 20.

The dinners are being held nationwide in a "Salute to Ike" program on the third anniversary of President Eisenhower's inauguration.

The President is expected to speak on a closed circuit television network connecting all the dinner sites. Hollingsworth said the dinners have the two-fold purpose of rallying party enthusiasm and collecting campaign funds.

Despite the nearness in time of the two events, Illinois Republicans also will hold the annual Lincoln Day banquet at the Sherman Hotel in Chicago, Hollingsworth said.

Employment in Illinois Second Only To November 1953

SPRINGFIELD — State Labor Director Roy F. Cummins today said non-agricultural employment in Illinois in November was second only to the number employed in the same month in 1953.

Cummins said non-agricultural workers totaled 3,400,000. He said personal income in Illinois would total 20 billion dollars this year for the first time. He said Illinois production workers' income averaged $85.34 a week and $2.04 per hour in October, another high mark.

Unemployment fell to only 100,000 as the year neared an end, compared with 249,000 at the beginning of the year, Cummins said.

He said only about 2 per cent of those covered by unemployment compensation were collecting insurance.

U. S. Doubtful Of Soviet Cut in Defense Budget

WASHINGTON — Congressional leaders doubted today that Russia really has trimmed its defense spending budget.

Moscow announced Monday that it would cut military spending 8 1/2 per cent next year. But congressmen cautioned that the Kremlin "propaganda" is no basis for changing U. S. defense plans.

"I don't think we can rely on statements that emanate from the Russian government," Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said. "Therefore, unless we get confirmation from other reliable sources, we shouldn't be affected by her purported actions."

McClellan, a member of the Senate Appropriations committee, said he was "very skeptical" about Moscow's announcement.

Western observers in London commented that the trimmed Russian budget may actually provide for an increase in the strength of the Soviet armed forces. The reason, they said, is that the value of the ruble has increased and more weapons can be bought with fewer of them.

MOSCOW — The Nationalities council of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) today adopted the "peace budget" proposed Monday at the opening meeting.

The council voted unanimously for the budget by a show of hands after 1 1/2 days of discussion.

The budget for 1956 provides revenues of 592,761,156,000 rubles ($143,140,289,000) and expenditures of 569,634,972,000 rubles ($141,908,768,000). This was slightly higher than the one asked for by the government.

(The dollar figures are based on the Soviet's valuation of the ruble at 25 cents although it has no official exchange rate).

The budget provided for a cut of roughly 10 per cent in defense spending.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
He was called friend of God.—James 2:23.

Abraham came from Ur of the Chaldees where the Garden of Eden was. He brought the story of creation with him, and he was sensitive to God's call and followed it, not knowing what the end would be. We can be God's friends too.

TO CONDUCT REVIVAL BEGINNING JAN. 1—A watch service will be held at the Dorrisville Social Brethren church New Year's Eve, opening a revival which will continue for two weeks. Rev. Carl Downey, left, will be the evangelist, assisted by the pastor, Rev. Earl Vaughn, right, and Leighman Walker, song leader. The public is invited.

Nixon Voted Man With 'Ideal Look'

NEW YORK — Vice President Nixon is the man with the "ideal look" according to the American Women's Institute, which named him the nation's best dressed man for 1955.

Mrs. Veronica Dengel, author and president of the institute, Monday night announced the top ten. She said Nixon was chosen because his clothing is neat, smart and striking, "the ideal sought by the average American man."

The "casual dignity" of the clothes worn by Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, gave him the No. 2 spot on the institute's list as the man with "The Poised Look."

Other "lookers" on the institute's list included:

Henry Ford II, automobile manufacturer, "The Handsome Look."
Averell Harriman, New York governor, "The Conservative Look."

A. M. Sonnabend, industrialist and hotel owner, "The Executive Look."

Joseph Pellegrino, macaroni magnate, who "mirrors the average white collar worker, The Contemporary Look."

Conrad Hilton, hotel owner, "The Impeccable Look."
Ruby Newman, society orches-

BY ROBERT CARSE

THE STORY: With officers and men distrustful of him because two were killed in their first encounter with a whale, Capt. Jered Naish of the whaler Obis proposes to take out a whale boat himself the next time a pod is sighted. He selects another greenhorn, the landsman Abner Morrow, as his harpoonier, and trains him.

XIII

It was south of the Equator, on a glassy, seaweed-speckled sea just slightly ruffled by the light airs of the southeast trades that the next pod was sighted. The calls came simultaneously from all three mastheads. "Breaks and white waters! Right, to the number 'bout eight.'"

Naish had been dozing in his cabin. The calls penetrated so keenly that before his eyes were fully open he was upright, had his slippers on his feet, his hat on his head and his long-glass in his hands. But Mr. Finn timer was before him on the companion ladder, and Mr. Wilson was already at the main mast-head.

Naish stood beside Mr. Wilson at the mast-head. "Four males, a couple cows, the rest young. I reckon you finger to lower."

"I reckon I do."

"And that fat fella can get you killed like as not," Mr. Wilson was smiling.

The boat crews used short paddles when they left the ship. The pod was deep below, might remain so for another 50 minutes or an hour. Where it would surface couldn't be known, and no sound that might frighten it should be made.

Mr. Wilson, in the lead, had started to let his boat drift. Mr. Finn timer now did the same. Naish immediately signed to his men.

The tremor came from far below in the sea. Mr. Wilson sensed it first and called in an oddly soft, flute-like voice, "They're a-comin'!"

Naish saw Morrow lift his harpoon from the crutch. He saw that the harpoons in the other boats were poised. Then the tremor was a violent, vast tubulence that made the boat rock gunwale-down. He thought no more of the other boats. A whale was breaking the surface within an oar's length of his craft. "Stern all!" he shouted. "Lay to, you, and row. Bend on!"

It was a male, the back scored, pitted and foul with layers of barnacles and snails and wiggling crabs. The left fin beat the water into a coruscant umbrella of spray. "Now, Morrow, give it!" Naish shouted.

Morrow threw and threw again. The curved carcass took the harpoons to the splices. Morrow flung his warp lines in the water and sprang aft, and with a frightful tightening of his stomach muscles, Naish knew that he must go forward. He leaped with his hands stretched to the rowers' shoulders, and somewhere in his consciousness he was aware that they still rowed as he had told them and that they hadn't gone batchy.

He and Morrow grazed bodies half way along the boat. "She's ours, sir," he said. "Just you cut him deep."

The whale had dived. The worn whined on the bow sheave; small blue tendrils of smoke rose from the strands. "Slack all," he thought, that's the command you must give. "Slack all," he called. "We're off for a ride, sir."

"All slack, sir," Morrow said. His breathing became normal. The ache left his hand, and the tension was gone from his stomach. He slouched against the harpoon crutch; the whale's speed made a pleasant little breeze that cooled him. The oarsmen had turned forward and their faces gleamed with delight. They wouldn't be afraid again, he thought. They, like him, had become whalers.

hooded eye disappear. The frontal expanse was before him, and the head reared, the underslung mouth showed wide open.

He gazed at the lower mandible, the rows of teeth and the enormous, rosy gullet.

Simon Purdy pressed the stock of the bomb-gun into his hand. "Here, sir," Purdy said.

"Thank you," he said, coming back from death. "Stern all now, lads. Give me a few feet."

He could feel the oars whip the water. There was tremendous reassurance in the old-fashioned gun that carried the crude bomb. He fired it, then subsided to his knees.

The bomb had exploded against the rose softness of the gullet. The whale's jaws snapped. The entire length of the animal cleared the water; the flukes, the fins slashed, the body shook with paroxysmic motion and flatly dropped. Naish put down the gun. He staggered aft. The whale was dead.

Equality High School Notes

F.H.A. CHAPTER HAS DECEMBER MEETING

The Equality chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held a combined regular meeting and Christmas party recently.

During the business meeting Mrs. Davis showed her appreciation of the efforts of the three highest magazine salesmen by presenting them with gifts. Membership cards were also given out.

A skit, "Oh! That Christmas Rush," was presented by Louise Aud, Janet Engles, Mary Vinyard, Patti Gullede, Jean Borum and Minnie Sue Moore.

The junior officers were in charge of the distribution of gifts during which songs were sung. Afterwards refreshments of punch and cookies were served by the freshmen girls.

The chapter welcomed Mrs. Don Karnes, Mrs. Charles Wargel and Delmar Feazel as their guests.

British Comet Spans Atlantic in Non-Stop Flight

LONDON (AP)—Britain's Comet III jet airliner flashed from Montreal to London in 6 hours and 18 minutes today in history's first non-stop Atlantic crossing by a jet transport plane.

The crew "breakfasted" in Canada before leaving and lunched in Britain, as it completed the last leg of a round-the-world shakedown flight that covered a total of 30,041 miles in a flying time of 66 hours and 43 minutes.

The average speed on the more than 3,000-mile flight from Montreal to London was announced at 543 miles an hour.

Veteran pilot Group Capt. John (Cat's Eyes) Cunningham said the four-jet Comet hit the near-sonic speed of 600 miles per hour at one point over Shannon, Ireland. He said that was the top speed for the trip, despite favorable 50 to 60 mile tailwinds.

The Comet left London on the round-the-world flight on Dec. 2. The 23,000-mile trip was designed to restore confidence in the De Havilland-produced Comet and recapture commercial jet supremacy

Cartoonist 'Ham' Fisher, Joe Palooka Creator, Kills Self

NEW YORK (AP)—Cartoonist Hammond (Ham) Edward Fisher, creator of the comic strip "Joe Palooka," died Tuesday night in a friend's studio apartment, an apparent suicide.

Fisher, 54, wrote in notes found near his body that he was despondent over his health, his eyesight had been failing for some years and he was suffering from diabetes.

Police found an empty pill bottle in the Madison Avenue apartment. An autopsy will be held to find out what the pills were and the exact cause of his death.

Joe Palooka, the central character in the comic strip, was created by Fisher in 1930 and won the Pulitzer Prize for 1931.

Only one minor incident marred the tour across four continents and two oceans. It forced the plane to turn back on its first attempt to span the Atlantic.

The trouble developed in No. 3 engine. The plane turned back to Montreal last Dec. 22 when the sub-zero cold caused a bracket holding a jet tailpipe to snap and loosen the tail pipe.

Fined

Neal Underwood yesterday was fined $50 and costs upon his plea of guilty to a charge of illegal transportation of liquor when arraigned before Police Magistrate

Vern Joyner Jr.

He and a companion charged with drunkenness were arrested by State Policeman Roy A. Lane and City Patrolman Link Rann in East Harrisburg.

New Production

Policy Outlined

By Air Force

WASHINGTON 12—The Air Force today announced a radical new industrial production policy designed to achieve immediate air readiness for an atomic war.

The new policy, conceived in by the Defense Department, represents a shift from the traditional concept of a prolonged industrial buildup after war starts to a concept of industrial and military readiness before a war breaks out.

The policy, laid down by Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles, reflects Air Force thinking that any big war of the future will be decided in the first few weeks with the exchange of nuclear blows.

In a seven-page memorandum on the policy to Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, Quarles said the "new approach" to industrial readiness is "essential because, for the first time in modern history, our nation is faced with a continuous potential threat of devastating destruction at the outset of general war."

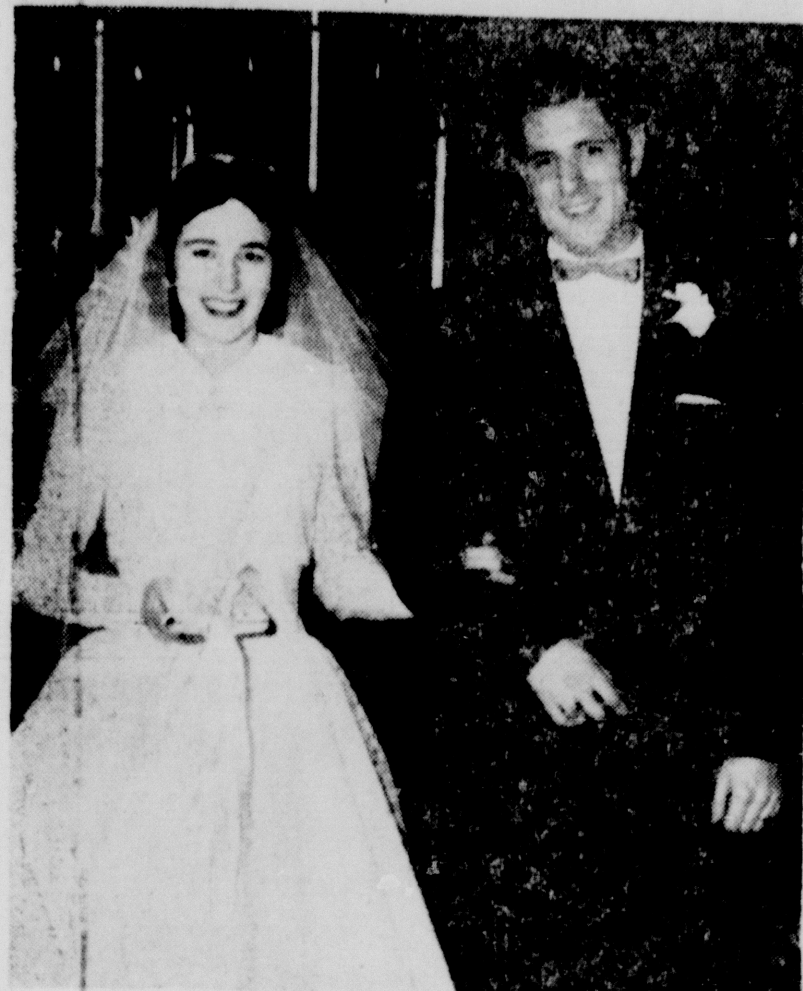

"If, in an emergency, we are to survive and minimize the devastation to our nation," Quarles said, "the traditional concept of a prolonged industrial buildup after attack must be replaced by a 'readiness' program."

The new policy, superseding one laid down in June, 1953, specifies that industrial resources will be concentrated on "the most important" planes and missiles—such as those for strategic bombing and air defense.

A lower priority is assigned to tactical and support weapons which would be

Miss Trula Pemberton, Jerry Donald Duane Wed at Galatia Methodist Church

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Donald Duane (Foster Studio Photo)

A lovely December wedding took place Saturday, Dec. 17, when Miss Trula Pemberton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pemberton, Galatia, and Jerry Donald Duane, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Duane, also of Galatia, exchanged wedding vows before a Christmas setting of greenery, white chrysanthemums and red and white alter-nated candles.

Rev. Bobby Edwards officiated at the double ring ceremony held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the First Methodist church in Galatia.

Lorene Dorris, organist, played "I Love You Truly," "With This Ring," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride chose a ballerina length gown of white lace over satin designed with a long torso and a strapless bodice over which she wore a bolero with long sleeves which tapered over the hands. Her veil of illusion was held by a tiara and she carried a white orchid with white streamers on a white ribbon.

Mrs. Joann Fletcher, close friend of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a red ballerina brocade gown with a matching headband. She carried a colonial bouquet of baby mums entwined with red net.

Little Barbara Jo Fletcher was flower girl dressed in a gown of green net over taffeta with a matching headband. She carried a white basket and scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

Dick Haruki, Kappa Kappa, Hawaii, who attends the school of dentistry at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., served as best man.

Ushers were Jamie Duane, Sammy Duane, Johnnie Tate and Lee Austin Pemberton.

Mrs. Pemberton chose for her daughter's wedding a brown dress with brown accessories. She wore gold nugget vana orchids. Mrs. Duane was attired in a dress of gold wool with white accessories and blue vana orchids.

Both mothers' orchids and the bride's pink orchid corsage which she wore with her going-away frock were flowers from Hawaii sent by the best man's parents.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the lower rooms of the church. Hostesses were Dolores May, Marilyn May, Betty Tate and Arlene Pemberton.

The bride is secretary for C. R. Gardner, county superintendent of schools, and the bridegroom has a B. S. degree in government and is a senior at Southern Illinois university. Both are graduates of the Galatia high school.

They are now at home at 424 West Poplar in Harrisburg.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. William Plater, Mrs. William Keen, Mrs. John Bell, all of Harrisburg, Mrs. Mary Seiler, Mrs. Janie Cartrell, Zeigler, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Scholl, grandparents of the groom, Jasonville, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Orman Duane, Evansville, Ind., Mrs. Roxie Lamkin, grandmother of the bride, Clifton, Ill.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Yarbcr of 1908 South Land during the holidays were the following children and grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Pittman and children, Gail and Bonnie of Henderson, Ky.; Mrs. Nadine Nisevical and daughter, Susan of Chicago, and Mrs. Paul Jones and daughter, Cynthia Lee, Gary, Ind.; Mary Bishop, Peoria, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yarbcr, and daughter, Debbie, Pontiac, Mich.; Mrs. Rosa Stricklin of Harrisburg.

Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Raley returned yesterday from Charleston, S. C., where they spent Christmas with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hallett, and granddaughter, Sandra Gale.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Corrie have returned from Fairfield, where they were holiday visitors in the home of a nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Cunningham.

ENGAGED. Mrs. William J. Merrow, the former Nell Fulkerson, is announcing the engagement of her youngest sister, Miss Dorothy Fulkerson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Grover Fulkerson, to Harry Charles Boyd, son of Mrs. Lena Shoemaker of Harrisburg. The bride-to-be is employed at the Sears sales office in Harrisburg and Mr. Boyd is a student at Southern Illinois university. No definite wedding plans have been made.

Mrs. R. B. (Pete) Burton left today for Chicago, where her son, Dr. Harold Elliott, who with Mrs. Elliott were at home for Christmas, is a patient at the Illinois Research and Education hospital, 818 South Wood street, to undergo surgery. Mrs. Burton made the trip with Dr. and Mrs. William R. Durham who also have been at home since Saturday on a Christmas visit. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Durham, 211 East Ford street.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Williams had as guests for Christmas their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Williams and son John Robert, Danville, Mr. Williams' brothers, Bob of Harrisburg, and Bradley and his wife and their son, Richard, of Greenville, S. C., and his sister, Mrs. W. H. Martin, Harrisburg, also Elbert Rose, brother of Mrs. Williams, and his granddaughter, Sharon Oliver, Eldorado.

Several Eldorado and Harrisburg friends went to Omaha Tuesday and today to pay their respects to the family of Emmett Downen, bereaved by the death of his wife, the former Delilah Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wilson, formerly of Ridgway and Eldorado, now residents of Birmingham, Mich., will be in Eldorado and Harrisburg visiting relatives before they return to Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dunn spent Christmas in Evansville, Ind., with their son-in-law and daughter and family. The occasion was also the birthdays of their granddaughter, Cheryl Ann Kallenbach, whose birthday was Christmas Day, and their daughter, Mrs. Don Langford Jr., whose birthday was Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Bonnie June Jarrell, while at home through the Christmas holidays to be with her three sons, was a guest in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Pearl Allen. After a pleasant visit with her many relatives and friends Mrs. Jarrell returned to South Bend, Ind., where she is an inspector for the United States Rubber Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Chamberlain of this city received a telephone call Christmas Eve from their sons-in-law and daughters and grandsons who are stationed on the East coast with the U. S. Army. They talked with T-Sgt. and Mrs. Edgar A. Logsdon and sons, Steven and David, Hartford, Connecticut, and Sgt. and Mrs. Earl S. Cooley, Boston, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Cooley were visiting at the Logsdon home.

Xi Beta Omega Chapter Has Christmas Party

Xi Beta Omega chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its Christmas party recently which began with a dinner at 6:30 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church.

The meal, prepared by members of the Guild board, was served at tables beautifully decorated with poinsettias. Christmas jewelry was used as place cards. Punch was served preceding the dinner.

The chapter members then went to the home of Mrs. June Steinmarch for a social hour. Mrs. Steinmarch was assisted by Mrs. Mary Humm.

Mrs. Marion Utter gave the program "Holiday Times," telling of the customs and traditions of Christmas in other nations and how they have been brought to America. She also stated how the exchange of presents had derived from gifts the wise men brought to the Christ Child.

Gifts were exchanged around a beautifully decorated tree. Sorority Sisters were revealed and new names drawn for 1956.

Light refreshments were served to Mesdames Roselee Dorris, Margaret Moore, Martha Dixon, Pat Baker, Pat S. Davenport, Ruth Hauptmann, Ann McGehee, Betty Jackson, Sadie Lou Stricklin, Bernice Cox, Kitty Partain, Bernice Kimberlin, Lodema Taylor, Ina Cain, Naida Uehurch, Jean Gaskins, Marion Utter, June Steinmarch, Mary Humm, Pat W. Davenport and one guest, Carolyn Storke, sister of Mrs. Pat S. Davenport who is visiting from Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. France Lasseter of Raleigh had a family gathering Christmas day for dinner. Present were their children: Mr. and Mrs. Marion Lasseter and girls, Sandra and Karen, Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. George Lasseter and children, JoAnne and Johnny, Tuscola, Mrs. Lasseter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright, and nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ferguson, Benton, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Naugle. Evening visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Wright Cotter and children, Tommy, Dorothy and Susan.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thompson, who reside near Salem cemetery at Carrier Mills, had with them for Christmas their children as follows: Mrs. Hazel Barnes and daughter, Cowella, Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson and family and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Thompson and family, Pontiac, Mich. The children missed seeing their grandfather, George W. Thompson, this Christmas, since he had gone to Alton to spend the holidays with a daughter, Mrs. Herbert Hoxie and family.

Mr. and Mrs. David Baker and son, David, Champaign, accompanied by Salahaddin Bereket of Istanbul, Turkey, an engineering student at the University of Illinois, visited in Harrisburg over the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Baker. Susan Baker, Colorado Springs, Colo., is also home for a holiday visit.

Friends of the James L. Yarbcr family who spent short visits at the Yarbcr home during the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ripperdan Jr. and family, Ruby Louise, Charles Edward and Janet Sue, of Gary, Ind., Lt. and Mrs. Andrew Sands and children, Andy Jr. and June, and Bromo and Gene Johns.

Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley McConnell of Lone Oak community enjoyed a fish and coon supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Yarbcr Saturday of last week.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Moore, St. Louis, where Dr. Moore is on the staff of DePaul hospital, spent Christmas visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moore Sr., 411 North Main.

Wins Safety Quiz in Overtime

W. Howard Evans, of O'Fallon, Ill., never owned a new car in his life, but now he'll have one every year he lives, even if he lives to be 100. Evans, 31, a railroad man, is shown at right receiving congratulations and presents from Quizzmaster Danny Thomas in the fifth "Dodge for Life" safety quiz telecast on the Lawrence Welk show Dec. 10. He had to battle Mrs. R. C. Blair, of Atlanta for four overtime questions before she missed Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Laurine Walker, of Denver, each won a 1956 car as a consolation prize.

Burning Jet Hits Housing Area; No One Injured

LEVITTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — A fiercely burning jet fighter plane crashed in the midst of a thickly populated housing area Tuesday, just missing a small house containing seven people. The pilot had already bailed out and no one was injured.

Capt. T. B. Buechler, 30, of Grand Island, Neb., said he was flying over the Long Island community of Levittown when he began having difficulty with the controls. He began descending and then noticed the plane, an F8ED Sabrejet, was on fire.

Buechler pushed the ejection button and was catapulted out into space along with the canopy and ejection seat. His parachute opened safely and he landed in a Levittown back yard. The seat and canopy hit the earth on a nearby estate.

The plane, by then a vivid ball of orange flame, crashed in the street in front of the Daniel Watson home.

Arthur Carl Jackson of Columbia, S. C., is spending the holidays in Harrisburg with his mother, Mrs. Reba Jackson, 1329 South Land street. He has worked for the Merit Distributing company of Columbia since he graduated from high school last year.

Train Hits Boy on Trestle

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Louis V. Bronk, 14, tried to win a race with a train on a block-long trestle Tuesday. He almost won.

The boy was standing in the middle of the trestle, watching two companions spear carp in the river below when the North Western passenger train started bearing down on him.

Engineer Conrad A. Carnot said he saw the boy for the first time when he was only 25 feet away. The lad was running for his life towards the opposite end of the trestle.

The train was going less than 20 miles per hour and Carnot put on all braking power. But it wasn't enough.

The engine caught up with the fleeing boy when he was only 15 feet from the end of the trestle. The boy, hit in the back, was hurled off the track onto frozen ground 15 feet below. He died instantly.

Prices Up Slightly In Sears Catalogue

CHICAGO (AP)—The Sears, Roebuck and Co. spring general catalogue, out this week, contains an average price increase of 2 per cent.

The price boost is in comparison with last year's spring and fall catalogue. The mail order house said its prices are up slightly, but the price average still is at the 1949 level.

In contrast, Montgomery Ward and Co. announced that its mid-winter sale book lists average price cuts of 10 per cent, plus some up to 40 per cent.

The Montgomery Ward book, however, is designed to move seasonal goods and special sales items and is not a general catalogue. A recent Sears seasonal sale catalogue also listed many price cuts.

work. Before and after school for a whole week he knocked on doors and did his best to sell subscriptions. At the end of the week he had exactly one subscription. His widowed mother had subscribed. "Chick" was disappointed and down-hearted. He gave up.

That evening Lawrence Smith, his neighbor, came over and said: "Chick, you got those twenty subscriptions yet?"

"Nope," "Chick" replied dejectedly.

Lawrence could see that his little friend was a mighty disappointed little fellow.

"Well, give me those other nineteen subscription blanks, and let me see what I can do," said Lawrence.

That night Lawrence ("Smitty") took those blanks to town, and when he came home he had every one of them filled. He had sold all of his friends, who gathered in the downtown drug store each night, on the idea of helping his little friend, "Chick," to have a bicycle.

There on his front porch was a brand new, shining, Ranger bicycle. He walked around and around it touching it, and patting it ever so gently. By this time tears were flowing down his cheeks. He was so happy!

His mother was watching from behind the screen door. As she turned toward the kitchen, she wiped the tears from her own eyes with her apron. Lawrence had been watching from around the corner of the house. As he slipped away toward his home, he had difficulty in blinking away the tears from his eyes. "Chick" remained there on the front porch with his new bicycle, just fondling and admiring it, until his mother called him for supper.

His teacher marvelled at the change that came over him. Not another spanking did she give "Chick." In fact, he became a student instead of just another pupil. He made the honor roll every month after that.

HERE IS WHAT I THOUGHT: Lawrence Smith made a lasting impression for good upon that eleven-year-old boy, whom he had nicknamed, "Chick." I rode that bicycle until I was graduated from high school.

Russia Admits Housing, Manpower Criticism Correct

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia admitted today that foreign criticism of bad housing, poor town planning and wasted manpower in the Soviet Union was correct.

It said it would "take note" of such criticism.

Vilis Lacis, chairman of the Council of Nationalities, told the third day's meeting of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) that the criticism came from visiting foreign delegations last summer.

He said the delegations particularly noted the waste of manpower, inadequacy in town planning and bad housing.

"We consider some of these remarks correct and will take note of them," Lacis said.

Woman Hides Nearly $50,000 in Home Before Her Death

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Officials said today that Mrs. Ida Cushner hid nearly $50,000 in her boarding house room before she died Sunday at the age of 80.

More than $34,000 in cash and $12,000 in bonds and securities were found tucked away in cans, cups, jars, trunks, and purses. A stack of $100 bills was tied up in rags.

Schmidt Rites at Ridgway Thursday

The funeral of Mrs. Barbara Schmidt, Ridgway resident who died Tuesday morning at her home, will be Thursday at 9 a. m. at St. Joseph's Catholic church. Rev. John Vanengoni will conduct the service and burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery. The congregation will meet at 8:30 to-night at the Cox funeral home in Ridgway for rosary.

Gov't Reports Boom Continues

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reports the 1955 business boom continued through November and early December.

Factory production continued to rise. It was accompanied by a further increase in non-farm employment, on a seasonally adjusted basis, and a longer workday.

Business spending and plans for plant improvements and equipment continued strong, the department said, with an increase in the last quarter of the year and a further increase was expected in the first quarter of 1956.

Personal income rose well above the average rate for the third quarter of the year with some further increase in pay rates.

Both durable and non-durable goods production reached new highs in November. The auto industry was back up to its high rates of production and employment of last spring. After mid-December, however, a reduction in overtime work was expected to bring a "moderate" reduction in output.

Retail sales in November were at about the same rate as last fall although down somewhat from October and September.

Classified Ads Sell Toys, Find Lost Money

Already that after Christmas classified sale of outgrown toys has begun.

Yesterday a Register want ad sought two pairs of skates, a pair for a boy and a pair for a girl. The boy's skates have been located, but his sister hasn't got her skates yet.

Mrs. Delray McIntosh found the lost money and checkbook of Leonard Jones, Gowerie, Ia., at the Grand theatre, turned it in and Harry Horning, of the Turner-Farmer Theatres has returned it by mail to Mr. Jones.

Another Lost ad in today's Register seeks to find $48 in loose bills, belonging to an old age pensioner. If the honest person who found it is a Register reader this poor old fellow will be made very happy.

Thursday and Friday are the special days before school begins for boys and girls to do their "Christmas Swapping" in classified ads. They can advertise their no longer wanted good used bikes, skates, toys, etc., in three lines for a quarter.

Fall frosts can be as effective as tillage in killing annual weeds on fallow—and the growth is still on the land to protect the soil from erosion.

Cameramen Plan Photo Tour of Area Wilds Sunday

A number of outdoor photographers have planned a trip into the wilds of the Chimney Rock, Horse-Thief Canyon area north of Draper's Bluff in southern Illinois, on Sunday, Jan. 1.

During explorations into the remote area during the past two years, the Color Tours discovered many interesting rock formations in the towering sandstone cliffs but leafy foliage prevented good pictures.

East side cameramen, including L. A. Dearing of Mt. Vernon, William H. Farley of Harrisburg and George Barekman of Marion, are to assemble at Cedar Grove church 10 miles southwest of Goro-ville at 10:30 a. m. Here they are to be met by the "West riders" who are to assemble at the home of Wayman Presley 10 miles south of Carbondale on U. S. 51 at 10 a. m.

The hike will be long and rough. Lunches should be taken. Worship period will be held in an old Indian bluff-shelter following lunch. The seldom-visited area lies 15 miles northeast of Anna along the J. Mason county line. The public is also invited.

'Rookie Brown' Among Globetrotter Stars to Play Here Saturday Night

Ticket sales have been going well for the appearance at Davenport gymnasium Saturday night of the famed Harlem Globetrotters unit that will stage an exhibition with the Honolulu Hawaiians.

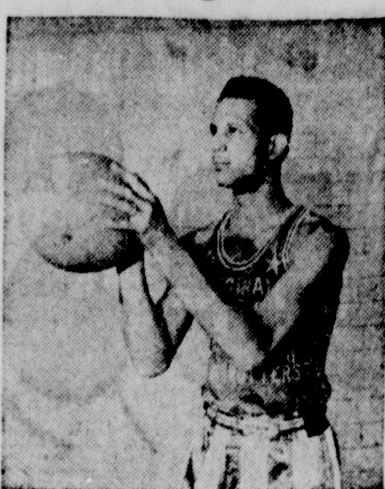

Blocks of six and eight tickets are being sold at a time to fans who do not want to miss this outstanding basketball show. However, with the gym able to hold more than 4,000 spectators, there are still tickets available.

One of the Globetrotter stars scheduled to be here is Bill "Rookie" Brown, who played the leading man role in the famous Globetrotter film that packed the theatres here a couple of years ago. This 6-3 guard and forward who hails from Los Angeles and did his playing at Howard university took a screen test for the part and made it.

Someone was needed to play the leading role, preferably a tall, good-looking chap who could play basketball and act.

Hollywood was combed for such a person but none was to be found that could fit the requirements. Then, suddenly, Owner-Coach Abe Saperstein bethought himself of one of his own players who was big enough (six feet three inches tall), certainly very handsome, a fine all-around basketball player, but whose acting ability was untested. Still, as a Globetrotter showman, he seemed to have plenty of natural ability along those lines.

That's how "Rookie" Brown happened to get the screen test—and the role. That he made good is evident to everyone who saw the film. More cinema offers came in for the tall young man, and he found himself forced to make a choice—continue in the films exclusively, which meant leaving his beloved Harlem Globetrotters, or else remaining in basketball, his first love, and foregoing a cinema career.

Without any influencing from Saperstein, who wanted him to make his own choice, Brown unhesitatingly chose basketball and the Globetrotters. Neither he nor Saperstein regrets the decision. "Rookie" is greater than ever as a basketball player, has the time of his life traveling the world and does all of his play acting in the Trotters' comedy sequences on the court.

Proviso, Bloom Among Holiday Tourney Upsets

By United Press
Holiday tournaments scrambled high school basketball teams from all parts of the state Tuesday night and the results brought a lot of surprises.

Two Big 12 Conference clubs, lowly regarded when the season opened, pulled two of the biggest upsets. Springfield, beaten four times, nosed out Maywood Proviso 60-59 in an overtime game at the Kankakee tournament.

Bloomington, which had won only once in six tries, trimmed Chicago Heights Bloom 62-57 at the Pontiac tournament.

Proviso had lost only to Thornton in its season opener, then whipped four straight opponents, including powerful Elgin. Springfield, with center Bob Leister swishing in 21 points, led by 12 points at the half and staggered 12 at the end of the fourth quarter. Proviso's basket as the gun went off in the overtime was good but traveling was called on the player who passed to the shooting player, Lowell Nauert.

Bloom was the club which handed Kankakee its first loss. Bloomington won its opening game, then dropped five straight.

In other outstanding games at Pontiac, Alton's favored Redbirds chopped up Lexington 79-48. Hillsboro surprised Streator 39-27, and Little Washington, still unbeaten, tripped Winnetka New Trier 68-63.

Albion Rocks Bridgeport At Bridgeport, Carmi and Shelbyville were supposed to be evenly matched, but Carmi won 93-49. Unbeaten Albion rocked the host team 71-53.

At East St. Louis, defending champion Dupu was edged by Decatur St. Teresa 70-68.

In the Egyptian holiday tournament at Mount Vernon, West Frankfort's powerful Redbirds had an easy time against Nashville 64-49. Edwardsville waltzed past Harrisburg 86-42.

At Paris, Chicago Tilden Tech registered a downstate success by beating powerful Greenville 79-67. Earlier this season Paris whipped Tilden badly. Clinton was classy in beating Mount Olive 83-59.

Powerful Crystal Lake, host at its own tourney, rolled up a 103-70 victory against Woodland. Elgin St. Edward's trounced Danville 62-47 in another game there.

At Hinsdale, Elgin easily bested the host club 86-65. Robinson had a tough tussle with Newman, winning 68-66 at Charleston.

Sycamore, one of the favorites of the DeKalb tournament, blasted Morrison 56-49. Franklin Park Leyden humbled Maple Park 92-47.

Seeks $10,000 in Suit Against City

Velma Hartwell, through her attorney, D. F. Rumsey, is suing the city of Harrisburg for $10,000 damages, her complaint on file in circuit court declaring she was injured on a city street Dec. 28, 1953.

The complaint says she was walking across East Locust street near North Main in a pedestrian lane and that she fell and was injured when she stepped into a depression in the pavement.

Iowa Stung by 76-71 Loss; Indiana Wins

By United Press

Iowa, the nation's fifth-ranked basketball team and powerhouse of the Big Ten, felt the sting of an upset today.

The Hawkeyes went all the way to the Pacific Northwest to receive defeat from the hands of Washington, 76-71 Tuesday night.

It figures, however, as a battle between a great Maryland defense and a fast-striking Oklahoma offense which will be more dangerous in the second half than in the opening quarters. And, in football, you have to go with the guys who can score.

Iowa forward Carl Cain led his team to within three points of Washington with 10 seconds left at Seattle, but Washington's Grant Perkins sank two free throws to preserve the winning margin. Cain led the scoring with 25 points.

Indiana picked up its sixth win in seven games with the help of 26 points by forward Wally Choice. Indiana gained a half-time lead of 47-40 and never was in trouble during the second half.

Northwestern's Wildcats suffered their sixth straight defeat when Princeton wiped out a three-point half-time deficit to win the contest. Dick Mast turned in the top scoring performance for the Wildcats with his 21 points.

Ron Kramer starred in Michigan's victory over the University of Denver, scoring 25 points. Denver was able to keep up with the Wolverine scoring pace early in the game, but fell behind when the Rocky Mountain quintet lost its accuracy. The triumph marked Michigan's third win in six non-conference games.

In other Midwest basketball, Loyola broke a four-game losing streak at the expense of North Dakota, 88-73. Bradley ended a shorter two-game losing string when it won easily over College of the Pacific, 71-49.

Pettit Scores 46 Points, But Hawks Lose, 105-102

By United Press

It takes a real champion to bounce back from a bitter performance with a brilliant one—and that's just what Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks accomplished today.

Held to only four points by Fort Wayne Monday night, the 6-foot, 9-inch scoring machine pumped in a season National Basketball Assn. mark of 46 points Tuesday night. The outburst wasn't enough to give the Hawks a victory—they lost to the Boston Celtics, 105-102—but it restored Pettit's average output a game to 25 points this year.

In 22 games, Pettit has tallied 550 points for the best average in the NBA since George Mikan was averaging 26.5 in 1951. Pettit Tuesday night tallied 17 field goals and 12 free throws.

Player—Coach Bobby Wanzer scored 28 points to lead the Rochester Royals to a 91-80 victory over the Syracuse Nationals and Carl Braun's set shot with three seconds left gave the New York Knicks a 80-79 decision over the Philadelphia Warriors in the other games played Tuesday night.

Edwardsville Tigers Eliminate Bull Dogs from Tourney, 86-42

Carrier Mills Plays Carbondale in First Tilt Tonight

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs last night were overpowered right out of the Egyptian holiday tournament by an Edwardsville outfit that could go all the way, and tonight Carrier Mills, the other Saline county entry, meets Carbondale in another first round contest.

Coach Joe Lucco's Tigers, led by Manny Jackson and Governor Vaughn, who have amazing jumping ability, knocked over Harrisburg, 86 to 42. In the other game last night West Frankfort did not look too impressive but was able

Picking the Bowl Winners IN THE Sport Parade

NEW YORK (AP)—Fraleys' Follies and the bowl game "winners"—just in case you have any scratch left over after Christmas.

Rose Bowl
Michigan State (9-1-0) over UCLA (9-1)—These are two clubs which feature speed and the Uclans would seem to have a passing edge if Ronnie Knox is fit for full-time duty. But the Spartans have a psychological edge going for them in the long string of Midwest triumphs over the Western teams. They also have a sterling pass defense and a vastly underrated field general in Earl Morrill.

To coin a phrase, the ball takes funny bounces. But the boys from the Big 10 will take a lot of beating.

Orange Bowl
Oklahoma (10-0-0) over Maryland (10-0-0)—This has got to be the game of the day come Monday because both clubs are unbeaten and the winner could be considered the national champion. You can argue schedule here, on the premise that Maryland played the toughest lineup.

It figures, however, as a battle between a great Maryland defense and a fast-striking Oklahoma offense which will be more dangerous in the second half than in the opening quarters. And, in football, you have to go with the guys who can score.

Sugar Bowl
Georgia Tech (9-1-1) over Pitt (7-3-0)—Had this been played a week ago, when Pitt was stirred up over the segregation issue, the onrushing Panthers would have been a cozy bet. But Tech is recovering from its humiliation and, knowing that it will have to be "up," should reach an even higher peak than Pitt by kickoff time.

Realize, too, that Tech doesn't beat itself. This is a club which has fumbled away the ball only four times all year, an amazing figure in a season marked by fumbleitis.

Cotton Bowl
TCU (9-1-0) over Mississippi (9-1-0)—The posse is a cinch to ride, but you have to grant the "home" team an edge in this one. Nobody will throw those Christians to the officiating lions in Dallas and with a speedy attack led by swanky Jim Swink the Southwest entry will be tough to handle.

Gator Bowl
Auburn (9-1-1) over Vanderbilt (7-3-0)—Here's another "home" team choice, the Auburn club appearing in the Gator Bowl for the third year in a row. They've got the horses, and what else do you need?

Sun Bowl
Texas Tech (7-2-1) over Wyoming (8-3-0)—Tech, which can and does hold its own with the best in the Southwest conference, figures to be a league above the Cowboys. This holds particularly because Wyoming has injury problems.

Tangerine Bowl
Juniata, Pa. (8-0-0) over Missouri Valley (8-1-0)—And if you want to know why, don't wire, write!

to eliminate a stubborn Nashville quintet, 64 to 49.

Carrier Mills, a team that beat Harrisburg 60 points not too far back, will meet Carbondale, an outfit that defeated Harrisburg by two points last week, in a contest starting at 7:30. But as everybody knows, sometimes comparative scores can be deceiving and the Wildcats may find the Jackson county Terriers pretty tough. However, Carrier Mills has a boy named Oliver Rollins.

In tonight's finale host Mt. Vernon will tangle with Du Quoin and should come out on top.

Last night's two contests placed Edwardsville and West Frankfort battling in the first semi-final game tomorrow night. Tonight's winners will play in the other.

Harrisburg again was playing without its tallest boy, Bryan Jones, who has been ill now for a couple of weeks, but his presence would not have stopped the uncanny accuracy of the Tiger shooting and the tight defense the team put up.

Wayne Stone, junior forward, had a good night, making 16 points, for the best showing of any of the locals. High scorer was Jackson, who had 26. Pulliam had 19.

Edwardsville outscored Harrisburg in every period, but the second quarter was close. In that frame the Tigers made 19, Harrisburg 17. But the last two quarters were a rout as they outscored the locals 29-8 in the third and 28-9 in the fourth.

Frankfort led Nashville but 19-17 at the quarter in last night's opener and trailed 32-31 at halftime. But the Red Birds gradually pulling away in the third frame and ran up the margin to 15 points during the last period.

NO WINGS

-but a wing-ding take-off!

(And at only part throttle — with Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo®!)

OF COURSE, you don't get wings with this sleek and stunning new '56 Buick—but you can get the nearest thing to them.

It goes under the name of Variable Pitch Dynaflo, because it uses the principle of the modern plane's propeller.

But the 1956 version of this great transmission goes airplanes one better now.

It's all as simple as it's thrilling.

At take-off, a pilot sets the pitch of his propellers for all-out acceleration. Aloft, he switches to cruising pitch for top mileage.

You can do that, too, in a '56 Buick. Just floor the pedal and you switch the Dynaflo blades to high-performance angle. That gets you going instantly at full-power sweep. Then, just ease up on the pedal, and you switch to cruising pitch—and a lot better gas mileage.

But now you get something a pilot doesn't get—a new quick getaway response even without switching the pitch. A sizzling new take-off at only part throttle. A wonderfully solid new take-hold that you use in all your normal driving situations. And you get it with Dynaflo smoothness—plus another boost in gas mileage.

It's the '56 Buick—
